

Contents

About the Author	viii	3	The Tide Begins to Turn	36
A Note on Terminology and References	ix		Creating the Docklands Light Railway
Glossary of Acronyms	x		Creation of the London Docklands Development Corporation	37
Preface	xii		Why a "Light Railway"?	38
Building a City Where the "Rich" Use Public Transport		4	The Birth of Canary Wharf	44
1 The Road Not Taken	2		The Canadians Come to London	47
London Says No to Sprawl and Motorways			Caveat Emptor (The Buyer Should Beware!)	49
Utopian Visions	2		A Road in Name Only	52
Broken Dreams: London Underground's "New Works"	5	5	And the Riverbus?	53
Railway Modernisation	6		5 Making the Toy Train into a Real Railway	54
The Victoria Line	7		Fixing the DLR
Motorways for London	11		Turnkey Contract to Prime Contract	56
Central London Car Policies	13		Improving Reliability	57
"Traffic Engineering" Schemes	13		Bank Station: The Neck of the Bottle	60
The Victoria Line Opens	14		Finding a Role for Tower Gateway	60
The Piccadilly Line to Heathrow	14		Problems at North Quay Junction	61
Great Northern Electrification	18		Canary Wharf DLR Station: Focal Point or Folly?	67
Jubilee Line Phase 1	19		Stratford and Pudding Mill Lane	68
The Greater London Council Takes Control	21		Improving the Stations	69
2 Mrs Thatcher's Urban Development Revolution	24	6	"Take Derelict Land, Add Railway and Stir"	72
"Fares Fair"	25		Extending the DLR
Bus Privatisation	26		The Lewisham Extension	76
Integration and Ticketing	28		City Airport and Woolwich Extensions	78
Electrification, Broadgate and City Thameslink	29		Lea Valley and Stratford International	81
Network SouthEast	33		Rebuilding Bank – Again	84
Heathrow Express: A Privately Financed Railway	33		Scorecard	85
			Was it worth it?	85

	Who made it happen?	86
	Could it have been done smarter?	86
	What could still happen?	87
7	From Big Bang to Big Bust		90
	Jubilee versus Crossrail
	The Art and Science of Transport Planning		91
	The Central London Rail Study		95
	O&Y Gets Into the Railway Business		100
	The Waterloo & Greenwich Railway		101
	The East London Rail Study		106
	Waterloo or Charing Cross?		106
	Southwark and Bermondsey		108
	Leamouth or North Greenwich?		109
	Stratford and/or Woolwich and Thamesmead		109
	A new line or extension of an existing line?		110
	ELRS Underlying Assumptions and Definition of "Do Minimum"		111
	Early Start on Preparing the Bill		112
	The ELRS Recommendations		112
	O&Y Response to ELRS		114
	JLW's "Independent Examination"		115
	The Deal		116
8	Mission Creep		118
	Building the Jubilee Line Extension
	The Private Bill Process		119
	The JLE in Parliament		119
	Mismanagement or Mission Creep? (Why Did It End Up Costing So Much?)		120
	Canary Wharf Goes Into Administration		125
	Construction and Operational Problems		126
	The NATM Debacle		127
	Train Control Choices		128
	Trying to Get It Open		131
	Scorecard		133
	Was it worth it?		133
	Who made it happen?		133
	Could it have been done smarter?		134
9	A New Gateway to Europe				136
	St Pancras, Stratford and the Channel Rail Link
	Re-Emergence of the "Commercial" Railway				137
	Previous Tunnel Schemes				138
	The Eurotunnel Concession				138
	The "Slow" Link: A National Embarrassment?				142
	The Route Shifts North				146
	Domestic Services: Which Trains, To and From Where?				148
	King's Cross or St Pancras?				148
	Union Railways Plans the Route				150
	The Stratford Box				152
	A New Role for St Pancras				154
	New Platforms for Thameslink				155
	LT Northern and Western Ticket Halls				156
	A Link to Euston?				157
	The WCML Link				157
	London & Continental Railways				157
	Scorecard				160
	Was it worth it?				160
	Who made it happen?				163
	Could it have been done smarter?				163
	What could still happen?				164
10	A Real "Tram" for London				165
	Croydon Tramlink
	Scorecard				169
	Was it worth it?				169
	Could it have been done better?				169
	Why did it happen?				169
11	Reform and Innovation				172
	Creating Transport for London
	The Transport Governance Debate				172
	The Company Plan and a "Decently Modern Metro"				173
	Privatisation, Private Finance and the PPP				173
	Fare Integration and Pricing				176

12	Low-Hanging Fruit	182	14	Thameslink	234
	The London Overground			The Tortoise?
	North, West and South London Lines	183		Scorecard	240
	East London Line	184		Is it worth it?	240
	Transport for London Takes Over	188		Who made it happen?	241
	Scorecard	192		Could it have been done better?	242
	Was it worth it?	192	15	Looking Backwards and Forwards	244
	Who made it happen?	192		London's Transport Transformed	244
	Could it have been done better?	194		So What Might the Next Quarter of a Century Bring?	247
	What could still happen?	194		Urban Transport: Evolution or Intelligent Design?	249
13	Crossrail	196		Acknowledgements	252
	The Hare?			Picture Acknowledgements	253
	Origins and Objectives	196		Endnotes	261
	1990 Crossrail Review	198		Further Reading	268
	Evolution of the Crossrail Scheme	199		Works Cited	269
	The Central London Route	201		Index	273
	Progress of the 1991 Crossrail Bill	204
	Alternatives to Crossrail	207
	Integration with Channel Tunnel Rail Link	210
	Boom into Bust	210
	Railtrack Tries to Take Control	211
	The London East–West Study	213
	GB Railways and CR2	214
	SuperMetro	215
	Cross London Rail Links	217
	London Regional Metro	220
	Richmond and Ebbsfleet	220
	Crossrail Business Case 2003	222
	Montague Review 2004	222
	Superlink	223
	Wider Economic Benefits	226
	The Crossrail Funding Deal	226
	Scorecard	229
	Is it worth it?	229
	Who made it happen?	230
	Could it have been done better?	230
	What could still happen?	230			